

Disc Magnet

Disc Magnets are high-strength permanent magnets designed for magnetic holding, separation, sensing, and industrial applications. Manufactured using premium magnetic material with a corrosion-resistant finish, they provide excellent magnetic performance, durability, and long service life. They are widely used in engineering, electronics, automation, packaging, and magnetic assemblies.

