

Hopper Magnet

Hopper Magnet is a permanent magnetic separator designed to remove ferrous contaminants from powders, granules, and other free-flowing materials. It is widely used in food processing, pharmaceuticals, chemicals, plastics, and mineral industries. The unit features a polished stainless steel housing with high-strength magnetic bars, ensuring efficient separation, durability, corrosion resistance, and easy cleaning.

