About Us

In 1985, Unitech Insulations & Cables (India) Pvt. Ltd. was founded with little funding and a fewer selection of products which has developed over time into one of India's leading independent manufacturers and suppliers. Since our inception, we have placed a high value on the dedication and experience of our employees, who have put a lot of effort into developing the business into what it is today. Our company has a technical division for coated and uncoated tapes, coated and uncoated sleeves, technical tapes, cords and ropes, and a specialized cable division. For nearly 40 years, we have served several industries like cable manufacturing, power generation, automotive, aerospace, electronics and electrical, Metallurgical Industries, railways, defence, ship builders etc.

We have the support of a top-notch research and laboratory section, as well as professionals that share our principles of moral business practises and client-centered approaches. We provide services to a variety of industries, including the electric heating equipment, petrochemical industry, power cables, coal mining, motors, home appliances, lights, electronic instruments, transformers, and power adapters. The majority of goods are supplied in a wide range of colours, thicknesses, lengths, labelling, and printing, and most may be made to almost any width. As a result, we can minimise the cost while providing our consumers with what they want when they want it. We take pleasure in providing our clients with the greatest experience possible, and we have put a number of services and initiatives in place to guarantee speedy and consistent lead times on all orders. The business is still handled ethically by our seasoned management team and committed employees, who are constantly looking for ways to enhance our services and product line.
