About Us

Riddhi Automation & Control is the epitome of industrial automation; a company that provides top solutions to redefine efficiencies in organizations. We operate as a manufacturer, supplier, and service provider for solutions like Electronics Digital Starters and Vacuum Indicators With Buzzer. We remain motivated by the value proposition, that we have the core responsibility to deliver on innovation in the design and engineering of products with a focus on outstanding functionality in various industrial applications.

We boast of creating products that not only conform to market standards but also ensure the incorporation of the highest technology in their production. All our products are designed to offer accuracy and precision when used. The sizes of the products which we provide are compact, making them perfect for different types of industries.

Why US

Attention to detail is integral within our products and services we provide. Our solutions are developed with the ability to work not only within normal temperatures but also within different and complex industrial environments. These products are preferred by industry experts and consumers due to the light nature of most of our products and moreover, they are portable with easy installation processes. We understand that people seek performance derived from advanced technologies, and that is why we provide our innovative products at reasonable prices. We wanted therefore to make safety features inherent not only in all our products but also in our organizational culture.
