About Us

Radhe Engineering Company is passionately engaged in manufacturing, marketing, research and development, and supply work of a range of Renewable Energy Products mainly in Biomass Energy. Leveraging on over 25 years of domain experience, we closely work with clients and provide efficient and more agile businesses. We stand among the top manufacturers and exporters of Industrial Biomass Drum Chipper, Biomass Briquetting Machine, Wood Chipper, Biomass Briquettes, Biomass Briquetting Dryer, Biomass Shredder, and many other products. We work hard in the domain with the vision to attain a global leadership by providing value-added solutions to our clients and smartly convert waste into valuable fuel. We have rich technology expertise, excellent process focus, domain skills and a commitment to build strong relationships with customers that make us attain constant growth and success.

At our company, we make use of the biomass briquetting technology, to convert agroforestry waste (bio-mass) into briquettes (bio-coal). This technique does not use binders. There is no need to add any chemicals or binder in it because lignin acts as a natural binder when biomass is forced to heat. Millions of tonnes of agricultural waste are produced annually. These either go unused or are burned inefficiently when they are loose, which pollutes the air. Because of their low density, these materials are also particularly difficult to handle and carry.
