About Us

The Indian cattle industry plays a significant role in catering to the large-scale dairy and meat demands of consumers. Indian households have a huge demand for meat products, pasteurized milk, butter, ghee, cheese, yogurt, and many more dairy products. As demands for these products keep soaring every other day, the many businesses dealing in livestock take it upon themselves to meet the rising demands. There are small-scale dairy farmers and even large companies whose business revolves around rearing healthy livestock. We, Vijay Dairy Farm, are one such business that has been active since 1990 as a livestock trader and supplier from Haryana. We keep a stock of healthy, well-fed Dairy Farm HF Cows, Black Murrah Buffaloes, and Gir Cows.

The indigenous cattle like Gir, and Murrah (buffalo) we rear are healthy and yield gallons of milk as they are well-adapted to the local Indian climate and thrive well in our farms. Therefore, we can easily supply pure-breed cattle for both dairy and beef production.

We are based in Karnal in Haryana where an end number of companies and other cattle supplier companies compete for gaining prospective customers. We leapfrog them by adopting smart practices in our business. We source cows and buffaloes of a specific weight and age from our partners who have a track record of sustainable and ethical cattle farming practices. We then feed them a good diet of grains, grass, hay, silage, and other supplemental feed, also vaccinating them as needed. We keep cattle in extremely comfortable environments that boost their overall health and keep them disease-free. We appoint experts who are well-versed in disease management in cattle and ensure no weather-related risks affect the animals. All animals are reared well under their guidance and are provided access to fresh air and a quality diet. Cattle are also allowed to graze freely in our spacious lands for promoting weight gain and give better milk yields.
