About Us

Maharashtra Spring Industries is a reliable entity in the domain of industrial spring solutions with the capability to produce products that successfully combine strength and flexibility, along with long-lasting endurance. As a manufacturer and supplier in this domain, the company aims to produce springs that work consistently even in harsh working conditions. Each solution developed by the entity is intended to address requirements in the industry where accuracy, consistency, and endurance cannot sometimes be compromised. Starting from heavy duty compression springs to light-load compression springs, heavy-load compression springs, spring rings, flat springs, and extension springs, all products possess precision in design and manufacturing processes. This enables these springs to work successfully in both static and dynamic applications with consistency in performance without compromising on safety.

The current industries today require parts that are able to sustain stress and are also less prone to deformation, even after a number of cycles. The springs produced today have a higher resistance to deformation, ensuring that their functionality for a long time is undiminished. The ability to handle various industrial applications also makes them viable for production purposes, where failure cannot be tolerated.
