About Us

Uday Saddala is a well-known and reliable source for efficient and future-proof infrastructure solutions for businesses and other institutional organizations that require flexibility, speed, and durability. The company, being a supplier and a manufacturer, specializes in developing well-designed modular construction and portable structures that achieve seamless integration for meeting constantly varying operational requirements. The offerings range from portable office cabins and restaurant shops to security tools booths, ladies washrooms, toilet cabins, and portable shops. Each product has been designed to achieve a perfect balance between functionality, comfort, and aesthetics. Each structure has been designed with a primary focus on functionality, security, and long-term performance. The designing and manufacturing process held entirely under one roof facilitates a consistent quality process and easy modifications based on the requirements of the concerned site conditions and business objectives. The space planning has been carried out with a focus on delivering optimal comfort even in smaller space configurations, thus being apt for commercial, industrial, institutional, and public use.

Longevity continues to be at the heart of every creation. The structures can be relocated a number of times while serving their purpose for an extended period. Additionally, they feature weather-friendly construction capabilities to handle various environments in India. Hygiene, ease of maintenance, user safety, and cleanliness of spaces within them create structures fit for spaces such as offices or retail formats and toilets that require high turnover.
