Wood

is susceptible to destruction, in adverse conditions it can rot, shrinks and is prone to insect attacks. It is hygroscopic in nature that is, it will absorb moisture from its surroundings which makes it swell up. Similarly, in dry conditions it releases the moisture making it shrink and prone to scratches.

We have noticed that many wooden made desks and benches have the defect that it loose it's fittings by regular use, when change the position of screws of its fittings that itself become ugly with many holes /marks but it will continue without a remedy. WE ARE NOT USING THE SCREW OR NUT BOLT FOR OUR FIBREGLASS FURNITURE, and hence no question of such problems.

Whereas fibreglass never shrink or swell up absorbing moisture or liquid on climate variations and hence we need not worry about its self destruction or attacks from insects as it is a mix of chemicals and also a bad conductor. Inbuilt color is an advantage which will never fade and hence no maintenance other than wiping off with soap water and a clean cloth is required.

The inbuilt colorful fiberglass furniture of about 64 different mixing colors are splashy in color and design which are eye catching and attractive and ornamental to the premises. It not only makes a statement but also brightens the ambience of your premises.

We are reproducing a report from leading News paper for your information about the fibreglass and its strong and climate withstanding power. "The crowning glory of Orissa and one of the wonders of ancient India is the stupendous sun temple (Sun God) of Konark- lavish, monumental and all pervading. This temple of Konark, better known as "Black pagoda" to foreigners, was built in 13th century. Many repairs have happened to preserve this great monument. The corrosive salt and sand laden winds from the sea are damaging the temple. An International team of experts suggested covering the entire temple in a coat of fibreglass to prevent further damage". BVT. Reports.
