1. According to actual usage, cut a certain length of stainless steel tie,thread the tie buckle to one end of the tie, and reserve a length of about 5cm

Cutting length=bundling length+5cm+10cm

2. Bend the reserved tie strap in step 1 shown in the figure to preliminarily fi stainless steel tie buckle

3. When tying, thread the other end of the stainless steel tie as shown in the figure, and reserve at least 10cm of length for the tie tightening machine to use when tightening the tie

4. As shown in the figure, clamp the tie strap with a tightening machine and start shaking th rocker arm to slowly tighten the tie strap.Ensur that the tie strap is just tightened to avoid excessive tension and damage to the tightening machine

5. When the tie is tightened, fold the entire tie machine back in reverse, and then pull the handle of the tie machine blade to cut the tie

6. Use a hammer to flatten the two corners of the tie buckle to secure the last reserved tie head, thus completing the installation of the tie strap
