

Industrial Aeration Pads

Description:

Industrial Aeration Pads are high-performance air distribution components designed for silos, hoppers, and pneumatic conveying systems. Manufactured using durable polymer or woven wire mesh materials, they ensure uniform airflow to improve the discharge of powdered and granular materials such as cement, fly ash, lime, and minerals. These pads are corrosion-resistant, easy to install, and offer long service life with reliable performance.