About Us

Eastman Auto & Power Limited (EAPL), which was founded in 2006, is a pioneer in the energy transition field that deals with energy production and consumption. Eastman is a top supplier of power solutions, with a focus on solar, continued energy, and last mile e-mobility solutions. Technology-neutral storage options and a broad selection of power conversion equipment for backup and solar applications are just two of the many energy value propositions that EAPL provides. The company runs eight production facilities throughout India and has approximately 5000 employees. It can produce 25GW of goods annually across all businesses.

With operations throughout India and a robust market presence in more than 50 nations, EAPL is dedicated to providing its clients with innovative and high-quality products for use in commercial, industrial, and residential settings. It is India's biggest producer of solar tubular batteries. With brands like Addo and Eastman, EAPL serves more than 400 OEM partners. With more than 1000 distributors throughout India, EAPL has a strong distribution network that guarantees its goods are widely available and provide after-sales support through more than 3300 service partners in more than 350 districts. The company's R&D department, which employs more than 120 engineers and global product specialists, is dedicated to attaining product leadership by ongoing innovation and development.
