About Us

KNAPS Tech Fab India is redefining the way India approaches modern heating solutions through advanced, energy-efficient, and sustainable technology. As a Made in India air source Heat Pump manufacturer and supplier, we combine more than 40 years of manufacturing experience with global innovation and local engineering expertise. Based in Ahmedabad, Gujarat, KNAPS Techfab carries forward a strong legacy of engineering precision, product quality, and sustainable thinking. Our focus has always been on developing high-performance heating solutions that deliver reliable, durable, and cost-effective operation. Designed specifically to withstand diverse Indian climatic and operating conditions, our heat pumps provide efficient performance while helping customers reduce electricity consumption and long-term operating costs. By using renewable energy from the surrounding air, our systems offer an environmentally responsible alternative to conventional heating methods, helping reduce carbon emissions and supporting a greener future.

Our heat pump solutions are suitable for a wide range of applications, including residential properties, commercial buildings, healthcare facilities, hospitality establishments, and industrial spaces. We continuously work to improve product efficiency, reliability, and user experience through thoughtful engineering and innovation. At KNAPS Techfab, our people, values, and vision define who we are. We are committed to creating innovative heating technologies that benefit both people and the planet while contributing to a more energy-efficient and sustainable India.
