

10 Feet Bamboo Murli Pole - Image Description

This image shows multiple bundles of long green bamboo murli poles stored upright under a covered structure. The poles are tied together with colored bands and appear freshly harvested or processed, retaining their natural green color. These bamboo poles are commonly used in construction support, fencing, scaffolding, agriculture, and various handicraft applications. The image highlights the uniform length, durability, and organized storage of the bamboo material.