About Us

We, Naresh Agencies, are reckoned as prominent market player in the domain of industrial and specialty chemicals. Today, with our dedication and enthusiasm, we have become one of the trusted Traders and Wholesalers of Industrial Acids and a wide range of Industrial Chemical Powder such as Boric Acid, Citric Acid, SLS Powder, and more. Different industries use acids and chemicals in different ways, either in their simplest form or in compound form. For example, Sodium Bicarbonate is an essential component of baking soda, and it is also used for Fire Protection Device and medicines as well. A factor that plays a critical role here is the processing of the acid and chemicals, which determines their industrial applications. When it comes to processing, chemicals are processed according to their properties and requirements, such as most of the manufacturing companies process Light Soda Ash using Solvay process, which is further used in making soaps and detergents, water treatment, pulp and paper manufacturing unit, and manufacturing of glass. Soda Ash is also used in the production of chemicals such as percarbonate, sodium silicate, and sodium bicarbonate. Thus, while procuring these Industrial Acids and Industrial Chemical Powder, we remain extremely attentive towards processing methods. The best way to assure right processing of the procured products is to deal with reputed manufacturing companies and renowned vendors.

Started in the year 2004, we have gained vast industrial experience and understanding of the wide-ranging necessities of the client. To stay at the front position of technical modernization within the chemical industry, we utilize forward-looking sourcing strategies, which includes developing strong business relation with vendors, while also focusing upon their market credibility, business experience, and infrastructure capabilities. Moreover, we make it straightforward for our clients to know that their order is being handled properly at every step of the delivery process. It is our sheer dedication to provide long-standing chemical and powders that effectively meet the specific requirement of our valued client.

Quality is Our Guarantee

For us, quality is everything, thus we put immense effort in delivering a superior grade product to our end customer. We understand the importance of precise composition in chemicals to get the desired results, when used for various industrial applications. So, the entire range undergoes through our stringent quality control process that is scrupulous and includes and independent inspections.
