About Us

Ajit Electronics Corporation proudly holds the position of manufacturer, supplier, exporter, and service provider with a commitment to providing superior solutions in high-voltage testing and measurement. Fueled by precision engineering and innovation, the products guarantee industry-leading performance that enables clients across industries to work with confidence and accuracy. A specialty range consists of hv-2 hv test set, trm-1000 transformer ratio meter, indoor type current injection set, a-60 oil test set, cbt-1 circuit breaker timer, current injection set, and ps-30s three phase shifter. Each solution is designed with a pledge to top-quality standards so that testing and analysis procedures are of the best international standards.

Accuracy is not only a characteristic but a cornerstone of our organization. High voltage test solutions provide unparalleled accuracy, and sophisticated transformer ratio meters usher in a new level of reliability for wind measurements. The oil test sets are designed for enhanced dielectric strength analysis, and circuit breaker timers provide accurate results without sacrificing safety. Each product, ranging from state-of-the-art injection sets to three-phase shifters, represents an uncompromising commitment to operational performance, durability, and user-friendliness. Solutions are engineered to endure hostile conditions, offering seamless operation and extended value.
